Hybrid Backend

Backend functionality (data-intensive processing and storage) is experiencing varying workloads and is hosted in an elastic cloud.

How can processing components that experience varying workload and access large amounts of data be hosted in an elastic environment while the remainder of the application is hosted in a static environment?